

Anthony Culyer
University of Toronto & York University (UK)

Tony Culyer is a health economist and policy analyst. He is a professor at both the Universities of Toronto and York (England). He has been a member of many health care organisations in both Canada and Britain.

In the UK he is currently Chair of the R&D Committee of NICE (the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence), Chair of the Office of Health Economics, and serves on several Department of Health committees.

In Ontario he is Chair of the WSIB Research Advisory Board, serves on several Ministry committees (including the one developing the Citizens' Council) and is on the Health Council of Canada's Value for Money taskforce.